

We thought about the skills that historians need, when we made observations on these Greek artefacts.

We talked about the term 'replica' which means a copy.

We used our previous knowledge to try and figure out what these were for.

We enjoyed thinking about what this mask would've been used for.