

Thursday English

Today we are finishing writing the story of The Happy Duckling. Watch the ending of the story again and then read through what you have written so far. Use your plan to help you and the word bank you created. Once you have finished your writing read through your whole story to check it makes sense and to make sure you haven't missed anything out.

Use the checklist below to help you check your work just like we do in class.

You could also draw a picture of your favourite part of the story and email them to us for the gallery on the website.

Writing checklist.

- I have used capital letters and full stops
- I have included some time connectives
- I have used adjectives
- My story has a beginning, middle and end

We would love to read some of your stories!
