I can write up my innovated story of The Stone Age Boy.

Today we are going to have a go at writing up our own innovated versions of The Stone Age Boy.

We will write sections 1 & 2 today.

Sections 3 & 4 on Thursday.

On Friday we will write section 5 and do some editing.

Remember we have 5 sections - each sections required a new paragraph.

Take a look below at the 6 things I will be looking out for in your writing. You can check your writing off against these at the end of the lesson.

*fronted adverbials

*simile

*adverbs

*paragraphs

*prepositions

*adjectives

1. A character discovers a portal giving entrance to a new and fantastic world.

A boy, who was wondering around in the forest, tripped and woke up in a cave.

A boy called Rory, who was wondering around, tripped and woke up on a desert island.

An amazing thing once happened to me, I was wandering slowly around the overgrown, marshy and deserted woods when I suddenly tripped on a boulder which was as big as a dinosaur. I saw my life flash before my eyes as I fell down, down, down into the sea of grass which lay beneath me. My eyes were closed and I could feel my head spinning. As I slowly opened my eyes, I was blinded by the sun which lay high in the clear, blue sky. In confusion, I looked around frantically. Where was I? I had never seen anywhere so peaceful and tranquil before. It looked like the cover of a holiday brochure. I pulled myself to a standing position and begun to walk the sandy shores. In the far distance, I could see movement. Hesitantly, I begun to walk towards it.

Remember section 2 will need a new paragraph.

2. Explore the new world, anything can happen, any creature can exist.

The boy meets a girl called Om who takes him to explore the area.

Rory meets a girl called Sophie who takes him to explore the island.

As I got closer to the movement in the distance, it became clear that it was a young girl, around my age. I instantly felt less anxious and carried on towards her. Before I knew it, I had almost reached the young girl.

"Hello, my name is Rory, can you tell me where I am please?" Rory questioned.

"Hi Rory, my name is Sophie, we are on Cabunka Island." Sophie explained.

"It is beautiful. Do you live here?" Rory enquired.

"I do, with my family. Would you like to meet them?" Sophie responded.

"Of course I would!" Rory insisted.

We begun to explore the vast, peaceful and tropical island. Sophie introduced me to all her family. They were very friendly and welcoming, but nothing like my family back home. I barely understood what they were saying but I felt happy and safe. We ate supper together before calling it a night and dozing off under the star lit sky.

New speaker,
new line.
