I can write a setting description.

Today we are going to be writing a setting description using the picture below. First start to write down bullet points about what you may be able to see, hear, touch, smell and taste if you were one of the people in the picture. I will complete one of each sense for you.

Hear

- crackling of fire

Feel

- the mud under my finger nails

Taste

- the hot stew

Smell

- wood burning

See

- animals in the distance

Using the points that you have noted down on the previous task, we are going to write a setting description about the picture below. I will include an example of a setting description, you may magpie some ideas, but must come up with some of ideas of your own.

As I gathered around the firepit with Om's family, I took a moment to appreciate the views. Far off in the distance, I could see a heard of reindeer galloping through the fields as fast as a lightening bolt. My intense gaze was interupted by a loud crackle and pop which came from the red and yellow ferocious fire. Rising from the fire, came a thick, grey smoke which caught the back of my throat. It reminded me of summer days when Dad had burgers cooking on the BBQ. I took my last mouthful of the thick, gloopy and brown stew which tasted bland in my mouth. As the sun set, I felt a chill shoot through my body.

You must include at least 5 sentences, 1 for each of the senses. Please also try to include 1 preposition and 1 simile.
